From Where The West Begins.

WHY not organize a Fool Drivers Club in the home town? Surely every city, town, and village has its quota of automobile drivers eligible for membership in an organization of this sort. Below is a list of rules and by-laws observed by loyal members of the Fool Drivers Club:

Speed past schools, churches, and other safety zones.
Grant no rights to pedestrians at street crossings. Scare 'em with horn, then chase 'em up trees and telephone poles for pastime.
Drive automobile under influence of liquor.

Disregard rights of others on highways. Hog road when passing cars from opposite direction.

Turn around in middle of block. Re-enter traffic main from parking position without signal, or observance of approaching traffic.

Back out of driveway into street ignoring passing motorists.
Continue to drive an automobile with faulty brakes, steering equipment and headlights.

Race trains at railroad crossings. Applicants for membership are directed to the sheriff's office for detailed information regarding initiation fees, dues, and other assessments. Club meetings are held in hospitals and cemeteries.

Sane and careful drivers are positively not eligible for membership.

THIRTY San Antonians who thought the 18th amendment and prohibition were out of vogue since December 5th, have another thought coming, according to unofficial threats from local federal agents. Near future raids have been intimated.

Several downtown bars have been serving bonded liquor openly since repeal. An OK was printed on the back bar at one place as a hint to customers. Prices ranged from 25 to 35 cents for a drink of whisky. Mixed drinks were higher.

According to the present outlook, Texans may have to wait until 1935 to renew acquaintance with bonded beverages. In the meanwhile the prohibitive Dean law still remains in effect—and bootlegging will continue.

THE Boston Tea Party occurred December 16, 1773. Get your American history and review some of the colorful events that our country experienced during this period. We have been in tight places before. American will power, courage, and loyal patriotism have always led the way to victory. Just wait 'til we get this stubborn, old mule back on prosperity lane—Giddap!

A PRESS report from Tucson, Arizona informs that two young men enjoyed the distinction of being the first airplane hitch-hikers. They succeeded in thumbing their way via cloud route from Tucson to El Paso, Texas.

Anyway, the aviator will have an advantage over the motorist. When the pesky hitch-hiker becomes too bothersome, he can maneuver the plane upside down, and dump the "thumb" overboard.

NEWSPAPER workers have their practical jokes the same as other trades and professions. On a quiet Saturday night, the editorial force stood by, patiently waiting for news happenings to break. 2½ more draggy hours until the paper would be put to bed. The gang had gathered around the copy desk. Newspaper shop talk was making the rounds.

On the outer edge of the group, the cub reporter yawned—the conversation proved too deep for a novice. Finally, he retired to a darkened corner, tilted a chair against the wall, and fell fast asleep. When the gang observed the cub's peaceful slumber, temptation proved irresistible. A raid was made on the dark room. Photographic flash powder was brought forth, placed under the snoring cub's chair, and a match struck. PUFF—FLASH—! Another high jump and sprint record was an official broken. And a dazed, young newspaper reporter decided to sleep with one eye open in the future.

P. S. Both managing and city editors were out having a cup of coffee at the time.

RANCHMEN and farmers in southwest Texas are seriously in need of rainfall. Grazing lands are parched, and cattle are forced to eat prickly pear cactus. Mexican ranch hands, armed with gasoline torches, are now burning thorns from cactus. If this is not done, cattle eat the thorny cactus causing the death. Other than light showers, the last precipitation in the ranch section was on September 28th.

NO MORE appreciable and timely Xmas gift could be given the great army of unemployed workers than jobs now being created in OWA units over the country. The average American citizen does not want a dole or charity. He asks only a chance to earn an honest living for his family and self. Certainly he is entitled to this humble demand.

CATHOLICS GO IN FOR BOY SCOUT WORK.

CHIEF H. E. Bond, R. Whitfield Sturges and W. Rubel Jones, representing the American Legion, were in Vicksburg Monday afternoon in conference with high authorities of the Roman Catholic church in promoting Boy Scout work.

With these at the Vicksburg meeting were bishop R. Gerow, of the Natchez diocese of the Roman Catholic church, and the Rev. Peter Gay Quinn, diocesan director of Catholic Boy Scout work.

Both Bishop Gerow and Rev. Quinn assured Chief Bonds and his associates that the Roman Catholic church would cooperate most heartily in the work of organizing Catholic boys of scout age into troops, and that a troop would be organized in every parish in Mississippi.

Ray O. Wylan, of national headquarters, told the Catholic prelates and Boy Scout representatives that this movement is undoubtedly the greatest since congress granted a charter to the Boy Scouts of America.

This is a forward step and will prove of mutual benefit. Thousands of Catholic boys are members of scout work but with this official declaration and stamp of approval the work becomes unanimous.

HOLIDAY TRADE.

LOCAL merchants should experience the best holiday season this year which they have enjoyed for quite a few. People are in a better position to buy and they have put off buying for a long time.

The government through various programs of construction is furnishing employment for several thousand formerly unemployed people. This money will be spent by the laborers, who are badly in need of clothes, and other necessities.

Another helpful factor has been the making available of credit for the refinancing of farm indebtedness. The governmental agencies require that the borrower settle all his outstanding obligations, thus funding all of his debt in one long-term, low-interest mortgage. This is relieving the pressure on many, and will allow them to resupply their homes and farms with needed articles and equipment.

Business should improve in this territory. Sales will pick up. All of which means more employment, more orders for manufactured goods, more demand for the raw material, and so into a cycle which will help eliminate unemployment and need.

ITALY IS RIGHT.

THE Italians think that the League of Nations will die unless some effective means are adopted to rescue it.

Mussolini, and his fellow-citizens, are correct. The League can not be effective with the United States, Russia, Japan, and Germany, four great powers, on the outside.

The need for cooperative action to prevent future wars is becoming more urgent every day. Something should be done to make the League effective.

The World War cost 26,000,000 lives and nearly $400,000,000,000— isn't it worth maintaining an effective international organization to prevent a repetition?

NO "GIFTS" ALLOWED.

BUYERS and sellers of merchandise in Bay St. Louis may be interested in the recent ruling by the New York Retail Code authority which has banned the giving away of free merchandise to induce the purchase of another article.

It is explained that under the Code provision, referring to selling below cost, the cost of an article given away is included in the selling price of the article advertised for sale and that, therefore, nothing is actually being given away.

Merchants will be permitted to advertise a combination of two or more articles at a given price but may not advertise the sale of one and the gift of the other.

4000 LETTERS DAILY.

A DISPATCH from Washington says that the Roosevelt administration is confident that the people of the country are behind the president's program for economic and financial recovery and improvement.

The reason why the presidential circle is not worried over an occasional blast of criticism lies in the fact that President Roosevelt is receiving an average of 4,000 letters every day from people all over the nation assuring him of their support.

These letters are not organized propaganda, like business organizations and big bankers can arrange, but are the spontaneous expression from the men and women back home. Their reassurance helps fortify the President to continue in his efforts to make life worth more for them.

Santa Claus is getting many letters nowadays from boys and girls who have begun to be good in earnest.

The only way for railroads to meet the competition is to give the public cheaper transportation. That's about to be attempted.

A REAL CHRISTMAS STORY.

A UNIVERSAL spirit of good will descends to earth at the first glad cry of Christmas. Family fires burn brighter, troubles are forgotten, and everyone remembers that it is more blessed to give than to receive. We are far away from the star the shepherds followed but electric lights and starry-finselled shop windows retell the age-old story. We cannot hear the first song the angels sang but we see everywhere a great army of Helpers to Santa Claus. God comes near to earth at Christmas than at any other season.

Peace on Earth good will to all men is constantly sought in the plans and purpose of the Mississippi Children's Home Society. If children could all be happy, but not just at Christmas but the entire year—if the hungry were sure of being fed, the ignorant properly taught—if orphans could all have loving foster parents—someday this world would be a place of heavenly joy.

Various plans of emergency relief have made us conscious of the importance of helping our fellow man after he has exhausted his own resources. How much better to teach our youth to have certain dominion over this earth! As the country emerges from its state of economic darkness wise leaders are developing a new program for raising standards in the care of its child life. The Mississippi Children's Home is a pioneer in the newer field of providing opportunities for underprivileged children.

Before we knew of the forgotten man there were many forgotten children destined never even to hear of Santa Claus until the Spirit that gave us Christmas gathered them in at the Receiving Home in Jackson. Here they are tenderly cared for until placed in family homes where their future is bright with happiness and old Santa Claus comes every year. If your heart melts with sympathy at the thought of innocent babies coming into the glorified days of childhood on shadowy streets of despair, remember the Mississippi Children's Home.

If your own heart and home has a vacant place, the Mississippi Children's Home will help you to fill it. If you know of a little child in want, report to John L. Sutton, Superintendent. If you have dollars to spare, no cause is more worthy—"For of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

HOOVER AND ROLPH.

OUT in California former President Hoover and Governor Rolph are taking verbal cracks at one another.

In criticizing the Governor's attitude towards those who conducted a lynching recently, Mr. Hoover said: "The Governor has been advocating lynch law. It is a subversion of the very spirit of organized society."

The Governor hit back, reminding his folks about the time when the Hoover administration used soldiers against the veterans in Washington, saying: "I deplore the use of troops against our own people. Look at the mess we got into when troops were called out in Washington against the bonus marchers."

Governor Rolph said he refused to call out troops "because one can never be certain what the outcome of such an action will be. Hot-headed young men armed with bayonets, rifles and bombs are liable to kill good citizens needlessly. It is up to local police officials to maintain order."

Ex-President Hoover said: "One trouble with Governor Rolph's statement is his gross ignorance of the facts. Not a single shot was fired, not a single person was injured by the troops called out in Washington in response to the appeal of local authorities. The troops ended the bloodshed which was then in progress through conflicts with rioters and police."

Governor Rolph has been more generally condemned than upheld. Citizens generally agree that good government will not be helped by the head of a state publicly approving assaulting and injuring police officials who were trying to protect the prisoners and uphold the orderly procedure of the law.

LET'S BREAK A TRADITION.

TRADITIONS, even when most ridiculous, die. And it's an unfortunate thing that a sort of tradition has grown up in this country to the effect that the only possible time for building or repairing is in the spring and summer, and that fall and winter are not to be considered.

As a matter of fact, winter is an excellent time for building and repairing in most localities. The construction industry is just getting on the road to recovery. It is preparing for a revival that will materialize, in the view of experts, in the near future. Materials and contract prices are still extremely low—but they are starting up.

This winter, in all probability, offers you your last chance to get in "at the bottom" so far as building costs are concerned. Unprejudiced observers, particularly those who gather statistics and follow trends, are of the opinion that it's impossible for real estate and construction prices to sink further—and that rises are just over the horizon. This is the time when savings are to be made—whether they be a couple of thousand dollars on an entire new house, or a couple of hundred on repairing or reconditioning the old one. Investment and employment are better than charity.

PEWS PERMANENTLY ASSIGNED.

EFFORTS to split the Democratic party into rival camps, with Mr. Alfred E. Smith and President Roosevelt as the respective leaders will prove as abortive now as it did before the convention. The election established the fact that there was a solid Democratic front, and future events will confirm that fact. The party, true to its name, has maintained its position by reason of the circumstance that there was room in it for all to express their views. It will live and thrive on healthy discussion. Anyone who thinks that success and perpetuity belong to an organization characterized by a boss-prompted, superficial unanimity, has but to recall what happened to the G. O. P. and to take notice that it holds back-seat checks, good for several administrations to come. Indeed, it would not be surprising if the pews had been permanently assigned.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING
(For The Sea Coast Echo)

INVENTIONS.

MOST of us think of inventions as new things that we can buy (if we can afford them) like automobiles, radios, airplanes and moving pictures. We do not often look behind these obvious things to the machinery that produced them. Yet there are hundreds and perhaps thousands of inventions in and behind every one of the new things that are offered in the department stores.

The important invention never gets out of the shop at all, or else is sold only to a limited number of other shops or mills. The new gadget you buy is not a problem at all. It is not the invention you know that has transformed the world in the last century, but the machine that makes the machine which is causing so much of our present trouble.

A well-informed writer says that the most important inventions of recent years are the thermostat and the electric eye. They are important because they compete with human beings in watching machines work. Another important change has been made, not so much by invention as by its brother technology—the doubling of power in the United States from 1920 to 1930. That also displaced human labor.

Twenty years ago the writer worked in the office of a factory which made certain hardware specialties. In the basement was a coal-burning furnace for hardening steel. The temperature from one part of the bed to another varied and there was no way of controlling this variation; but the superintendent had a method of obtaining very good results in spite of this fact. Now a different type of furnace, with temperature controlled by a thermostat, is used to obtain still better results—and with less labor.

On the third floor was a battery of automatic machines used to cut from steel bars parts that we needed in quantities. A skilled mechanic was in constant attendance on them. Now the electric eye watches automatic machinery and controls the switches.

In Milwaukee is a factory which made six to eight thousand frames for automobiles every day. Auto frames are heavy, but one man loaded the entire output on freight cars, and he rode in a control car. The factory is very modern. Its total payroll held only a few more than two hundred names for the machinery was nearly automatic, specially invented for this one plant.

Similar changes have been made in farming, although not to the extreme. Less farmers raise more crops. Half the number of men now harvest the wheat crop in half the number of days required a dozen to twenty years ago. The tractor and the gang plow do more work with less effort.

There are also machines for office work, and even for retail selling. The latter have not been introduced, as was planned, for the depression intervened, and it was evidently not considered wise to displace so many retail clerks. The purpose of invention, in large measure, is to reduce labor.

The result of this process is "technological unemployment," which is a big name for a very ugly fact. It means that men and women cannot find work to do in the modern world. Perhaps we might have adjusted ourselves to the new inventions if the movement had not been so rapid. As it stands invention, or new machinery, or technology, is the second of the two fundamental causes of the depression and of the "New Deal," the first of these causes being debt.

These two great causes are very closely related, for the inventions are financed by debts, and the savings (of labor costs) which they effect are used to create more debt. During the eight years from 1921 to 1929 interest and profits in the United States increased more than on hundred per cent, while total wages were decreasing five per cent. As our conservative friends love to point out, interest and profits are largely saved, to be invested in new debts which are used, partly, to produce more and better machines. Wages are almost all spent for "consumers goods" including the products of the machines.

It is right here that the whole contraption broke down. That Milwaukee factory is not running full speed because they have not enough customers for automobiles. The new machines are no good at all unless they have somebody to work for, and, moreover, the debts cannot be paid, so that unemployed workman, unemployed manufacturer, and unemployed capitalist all go on public relief together. Raising prices by depreciating the dollar will do no good, unless somebody has the money to pay the higher prices. Fortunately most of our equipment is still out-of-date, or we would be much worse off than we now are.

Some people are advising that we go back to the simple life of our grandparents. This would reduce our personal complications. Something like it has even been tried, out West, and with remarkable success. One other result of the course would be to bankrupt all our governments, all our large cities and all our multimillionaires, for none of them could either pay, or collect, their debts. The answer is not to give up the

FOR the information of those interested in the protection of our forests we quote herewith a recent enactment of the Legislature of the State of Mississippi.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Mississippi that all circuit judges upon convening their circuit courts, shall especially charge the grand juries with respect to the State forest fire laws as set forth in the Miss. Code 1930, Chapter 66, Section 3422, and Chapter 20, Section 928, and as the same may be amended from time to time, and that each grand jury shall report to the circuit judge as to the status of forest protection in the county.

Section 2. That this act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved, April 9, 1932.

Chapter 66, Section 3422—Tresspass—by Firing Woods.

If any person shall set on fire any lands of another, or shall wantonly, negligently, or carelessly allow any fire to get into the lands of another, he shall be liable to the person injured thereby, not only for the injury to or destruction of buildings, fences, and the like, but for the burning and injury of trees, timber, and grass and damage to the range as well, and shall moreover be liable to a penalty of one hundred and fifty dollars in favor of the owner.

Chapter 20, Section 928. Firing Woods.

If any person willfully and maliciously set on fire any woods, meadow, marsh, field or prairie not his own, or wantonly allow fire to be communicated to any woods, meadow, marsh, field or prairie not his own, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, on conviction, be fined not less than twenty nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not more than three months, or both.

It is not news to the boys but it may be news to the readers that the fires of Hancock county are far too numerous to be entirely accidental. Ask the boys who are fighting them.

Seventy-five boys were held in camp the last week end on fire duty, and it is no fun to miss a week-end with the folks back home just to stay here and fight fires.

The entire fire detail was kept busy Saturday and Sunday fighting different fires in different parts of the county. When the supper whistle blew Sunday night there were sixty five men absent from camp "whipping out fires." From five to six thirty there were four different supper calls. To top off the week end there was reported at four a. m. Monday three fires raging between the Camp and Bay St. Louis.

Incidentally just in the line of information as the correspondent started this column, three more fire calls just came through, one fire each, in Waveland, Catahoula and Texas Flat. Looks like late chow for someone. That makes six fire calls today and the day only half spent.

The boys are glad to report that the finishing touches are being given to a new bath house for "hot 'n' cold" showers. A cold shower may be healthy, but have you tried it on these cold days? We are also expecting a new light plant this week. The camp will then be lighted in its entirety.

The Sea Coast Echo

MISSISSIPPI RANKS TWELFTH IN CHEESE PRODUCED IN U. S.

Remarkable Six-Year Development Supplies But Half Of State Requirements As National Effort Seeks to Sell Home Product.

Attainment of the rank of twelfth state in cheese production six years after beginning of the industry, by manufacturing 5.7 million pounds of cheese from 56.5 million pounds of whole milk, is the enviable record of Mississippi, according to J. C. Holton, Commissioner of Agriculture, in commenting to The Echo upon National Cheese Week.

"National Cheese Week holds intimate and particular significance for Mississippi, for cheese production is one of our newest and most successful efforts toward the diversification of our State's agriculture and industry. From a single producing plant established in 1927 the industry has grown to include 11 large plants at present, which last year furnished a cash market for 56,499,901 pounds of farm milk in the manufacture of 5,732,100 pounds of cheese. Cheese production has thus kept pace with other phases of Mississippi's remarkable dairy development, which, from a single plant established in 1909, has expanded to 317 plants serving all sections of the state, consuming 191,436,700 pounds of whole milk and 13,355,416 pounds of butterfat, and making Mississippi the outstanding dairy state in the cotton producing south.

"The cheese industry, like all other industries during these days of depression, is suffering from the effects of overproduction and consequent low prices, and National Cheese Week is for the primary purpose of acquainting American housewives with the highly nutritious and economical value of cheese to the end that domestic consumption may be increased. Foreign countries, knowing the value of cheese, use it much more extensively than we do. In the United States the annual consumption is 5 pounds per capita; and even though we did no more than produce our normal state requirements there would be provided markets sufficient to double state production.

"One of these days the depression is going to be over. Farm products will again be required in normal quantities and at normal prices, then will come the opportunity to expand, in anticipation of which the present substantial development is ideal preparation. We have learned the penalty of the one-crop farming and we are preparing when normalcy returns, to capitalize the rich, natural assets of soil and climate by further diversifying agriculture and industry through continued expansion of the whole dairy industry."

A CHRISTMAS CALL THAT YOU WILL ENJOY

By A. M. Fishburn, MANAGER

SOUTHERN BELL
Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Christmas, the glad holiday season, is near at hand. It will be a happy time for many, while others will feel saddened because they will be separated from loved ones and friends.

Families and friends do become scattered with the years and we miss their smiling faces and cheery voices, more especially at Christmas time. It is the season when happy memories flood our minds. The older folks recall the years when the children were young and Christmas was a time of joyous excitement for all. And the children, now grown up and living miles away with youngsters of their own, remember Mother and Dad and wish they could all be together again, if only for a few minutes.

To these folks we have a happy suggestion to make, one that many families are following. When the Yuletide rolls around this month, even though hundreds of miles separate you from your loved ones and friends, just remember your telephone. All you need to do is lift the receiver and tell "Long Distance" whom it is you want and almost at once the connection is made and you are talking with them just as though you were in the same room. It is the next best to being together in person.

A great many families make a practice of voice visiting by telephone at regular intervals throughout the year. Because your voice is so over the telephone, visiting this way has the personal charm of a face-to-face visit and is a convenient and inexpensive way to keep the ties of home and friendship alive. For example you can talk with folks 50 miles away for around 25 cents, and 100 miles for about 35 cents and greater or less distances at correspondingly low cost, by using station-to-station service.

Excitement and anticipation reign supreme as the Jays make their final preparations for the week-end trip to New Roads.

WITH THE MOVIES AND FILM FOLKS

THE tendency to recreate actual buildings for the settings of film plays as in the case of the reproduction of the Alcott home in detail, seems to be more pronounced than ever. Fox had pictures taken of the Hammond plantation, near Augusta, Ga., and also of the general store and postoffice at Mars Bluff, S. C., with its old cracker-barrel and stove and duplicates were erected on the Fox lot, exact to the minutest detail, as a background for its picture, "Carolina" formerly Paul Green's "The House of Connelly." In the cast are Janet Gaynor, Lionel Barrymore, Robert Young, Henrietta Crossman, Richard Cromwell and Stepin Fetchit.

Roland Young and Lillian Gish have the feature roles in "His Double Life," based on Arnold Bennett's stage play, "The Great Adventure." It will be released by Paramount in the new year.

Four new films will be released by first National during January. These include "Dark Hazard," with Edward G. Robinson; "The Big Shakedown," with Charles Farrell, Bette Davis and Ricardo Cortez; "Convention City," with Joan Blondell, Adolphe Menjou, Dick Powell and Mary Astor; and "Beside," with Warren William, Jean Muir and Kathryn Searcy.

While Charlotte Henry, the 19-year old Brooklyn girl who was selected from among some 6,500 applicants for the title role in "Alice in Wonderland," is making a personal appearance tour of sixteen of the larger cities in the country, Norman McLeod, director of her picture, will complete the editing and assembling of the film for general release on December 22nd.

Grace Moore, opera singer, will return to Columbia and to the screen, in a story revolving around her life. Three new pictures underway at Warner Brothers include "Journal of Crime," with Ruth Chatterton and Adolphe Menjou; "Gambling Lady," with Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea, and "Heat Lightning," featuring Aline MacMahon, Ann Dvorak and others.

Dick Powell and Pat O'Brien will be teamed as a radio singer and his hard-boiled manager in "Radio Romance." Margaret Lindsey will furnish the feminine interest.

It's hard to realize it, but Jackie Coogan, well known juvenile of a few years back, is old enough and grown-up to have a grown lady for his feminine lead. Jackie, who is now a sophomore at a California college, took time off during the Thanksgiving holidays to do a little emoting before the cameras. Margaret Marquis, a charming little brunette, who played in "Eight Girls in a Boat," has the feminine lead.

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

SODALITY NEWS.

THURSDAY afternoon the girls in the High School were pleasantly surprised when told that instead of the usual Sodality meeting Father Fahey would give them a conference. Father Fahey briefly outlined the great advantages and privileges which accrue to a Child of Mary. By means of a beautiful poem entitled "Mother," Father made a very apt comparison. Since we show such love and reverence to our earthly mother, to what greater extent should we love and reverence our heavenly Mother? To really show our love for our Mother we should strive to do those things which she desires namely, to imitate her virtues and to be closely united to her Divine Son. The Sodality wishes to express their gratitude to Father Fahey for this talk which fittingly brought to a close the triduum of Masses and Communion in preparation for the feast of the Immaculate Conception.

On Friday after the Missa Recitata fourteen candidates, veiled and with lighted tapers, approached the altar and solemnly pledged allegiance to the Blessed Virgin.

GOLD JAYS START OFF SEASON WITH A BANG.

This year's first victim of the Gold Jays was the Dashaways from New Roads. The game was played Saturday night amid the cheers and yells led by our three newly elected cheer-leaders.

The Dashaways were right there with their excellent pass work, however, they were not quick enough for the Gold Jays and when the final whistle blew, the Jays were on the long end of the score 44-23.

The "Little Jays" played a game with the "Little Dashaways" and came near following in the footsteps of their big sisters but lost out by a score of 22-15. Cheer up! Better luck next time.

The Dashaways proved themselves to be real sports and took their defeat with a smile. We enjoyed having the teams with us and hope that we will have the pleasure of entertaining them again. But the best part of the treat was the pleasure of having dear Mother Claire with us again, even though her stay was such a brief one. It is the desire of all that Mother Claire will pay us another visit in the near future.

WISE PEOPLE BUY CHRISTMAS GIFTS NOW AND PATRONIZE HOME

Bay St. Louis Merchants
Present Interesting Array Of Merchandise.

It's hard to realize but there's only a few more days before Christmas and most of us are not even half ready for the big event. What days of hurry and bustle are before us. The housewives of Bay St. Louis are in the very throes of their preparations for the holiday season when all the family comes home and gathers around the Christmas tree and the Christmas table, loaded down with the family's favorite eats.

It might not be amiss to suggest in these days of hurried preparation for the big event, that the citizens of this community can save a great deal of time—and money—by visiting the stores of Bay St. Louis and selecting their gifts before the attractive stocks of Christmas goods are "picked over."

There seems to be a great temptation for some folks to sit down, get out a mail-order catalogue and do shopping from extravagantly worded descriptions contained therein. Perhaps it is less trouble for some but we wonder if these people realize just what they are doing.

We would like to call their attention to the fact that the merchants of Bay St. Louis and community are the ones who keep the business of this section going. How would you like to live in a place where there were no stores at all and you had to order by mail everything you wanted?

Most of the merchants of Bay St. Louis are looking forward hopefully to help put the year's business on the back side of their ledgers. They have been struggling along as best they could during the past year, often keeping clerks on the payrolls when business did not warrant it.

In order to add to the unemployment rolls of the community. Many have signed codes guaranteeing higher wages and shorter hours to their employees, sometimes at personal sacrifice to themselves.

We cannot help but feel that the local merchants have a right to expect the support of the people of this community. They have gone to considerable trouble and expense to give the residents of this community an attractive assortment of Christmas goods, at prices which compare favorably with those in any other community.

Give your home town merchants first chance to supply your Christmas wants. If he can't supply it, at the price you want to pay, then he will agree with you that you should try to obtain it elsewhere. But be sure to give him a chance. He deserves your support. By giving him as much of your Christmas business as you possibly can, you not only help him, you help yourself and all the citizens of Bay St. Louis.

"MY WEAKNESS WITH LILIAN HARVEY HERE SUNDAY & MONDAY

New Fox Star Has Lew
Ayres as Leading Man
In DeSylva Film

"My Weakness," the new Fox production that presents the popular Lilian Harvey in her first American film play, comes to the A. & G. Theater this Sunday and Monday.

Miss Harvey, Europe's most popular picture star, who created a sensation on these shores with her performance in "Congress Dances" is appearing in films from the studios of Fox.

For her initial appearance before the American lens, Miss Harvey has been cast as the most popular of the screen as her leading man—Lew Ayres.

He was selected after a thorough search among the stars of Hollywood, and the final choice was made with Miss Harvey's own approval. The cast boasts some of the best known names in the world of the screen, among whom are Charles Butterworth, and Harry Langdon, comedians; Sid Silvers, the world's most famous "stooge"; Irene Bentley, filmworld's latest "find"; Henry Travers, popular veteran of the New York stage; Adrian Rosley and Mary Howard, daughter of Will Rogers.

Combed for their most beautiful girls for minor roles in the production, Hollywood has yielded a number of actresses each of whom represents a distinct type of feminine pulchritude. Among these are Irene Ware, Barbara Weeks, Susan Fleming, Marjorie Edwards, Marjorie King, Jean Allen, Gladys Blake and Dixie Francis.

David Butler directed the film from the continuity of his own authorship. Additional dialogue was written by Bert Hanlon and Ben Ryan.

New Roads. Thanks to the generosity of Miss Stella Kenney, Mr. and Mrs. Lazana and Alice Camors, three cars will convey the team and their Coach to New Roads where the Jays will be the guests of the Dashaways of S. J. A.

The team will leave Friday noon and return Sunday. Although the Gold Jays defeated the Dashaways last Saturday, they are not so sure that they are going to have an easy time overcoming their sister team when they meet them in New Roads. GOOD LUCK! Gold Jays! Fight!

On Tuesday, December 12, most of the Waveland school children marched down to the Town Hall, where they received free hot luncheon. With the assistance of government funds, these children will get hot lunches indefinitely. This is a wonderful project and should be appreciated, as well as boosted, by all the people, who are interested in these children.

Mr. John Eckerle, efficient contractor, is now building a summer home, on Coleman avenue for Mr. C. Russell, of New Orleans.

A number of men, employed by the CWA, are now repairing the seawall along the beach front, in the town of Waveland.

Mr. O. A. Williamson motored to New Orleans, Saturday, December 9, on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson, of Coleman avenue, motored to New Orleans, Tuesday for a couple of days. Mr. Wilson is an enthusiastic fisherman and enjoyed a fishing trip with Bay St. Louis friends Sunday.

Friends of Mr. J. P. Morere are glad to note his recovery from recent illness.

Blue skies, balmy weather and the incessant lure of the Gulf Coast attracts many week-end visitors to the Waveland section, particularly from New Orleans. Perhaps there are more week-end visitors to Waveland than any other section of the Coast.

Waveland, in the midst of many improvements, progressive and conservative government, has a splendid immediate future. It is no secret that this section, comparatively, has made more strides during the economic depression than any other section, with its neighbor of Clermont Harbor on the south keeping in step.

Coleman avenue, the new business section has indeed made rapid strides and is well the central avenue of the town. The Chas. B. Mollere store is the newest and most substantial. Mr. Mollere's store is both spacious and attractive and its facade with metropolitan-like show windows of great sheets of plate glass would do justice to any city, regardless of size, all credit due to the vision and progressiveness of Mr. Mollere.

Waveland has off time been designated as the city of homes and it may well be termed the city of gardens. Even the most humble abode has its quota of flowering plants. Mrs. D. Laughton's garden is one of beauty and selection. Just now the immaculate white canela attracts attention. Large blossoms, many of them double (two to the stem) fully developed and wide open are objects of rare beauty. Mrs. Daughton loves rare plants and flowers and it seems that success is a reward for attention and consideration.

Current has been turned on a part of Waveland's first unit for a beach "white way" along the boulevard. These ornamental iron posts, set in foundations of concrete give air of permanency. The lights are encased in large, white globes and the name of the street or avenue is plainly painted thereon in gothic letters of black. This latest gesture of enterprise on the part of the mayor and aldermen is received with general acclaim and the completion of the entire "way" as planned, is eagerly anticipated.

"Great Expectations" in Waveland are awaiting the completion of New Orleans Coastal short-cut highway. It is correctly reasoned Waveland, regardless of which way the route is designated to run in Hancock county will be of inestimable value by reason of saving of time in traveling. New Orleansians will not hesitate to journey hither when it becomes so that it will be unnecessary to go through Slidell, Honey Island and vicinity—a veritable detour in every sense of time and expense.

TUNG OIL TREE ACREAGE IS LARGE IN PICAYUNE AREA

Radius of Fifty Miles, Including Hancock County, Boasts About 17,000 Acres

Lamont Rowlands of Picayune, probably the largest grower of tung oil trees in the south, was in Gulfport a few days ago and when asked how many acres he had in tung oil trees, stated to a Herald reporter that he had approximately 9000 acres of trees that would bear nuts in 1934. Together with the average of other growers in the vicinity, it is estimated that there will be 17,000 acres of bearing tung oil trees within a radius of 50 miles from Picayune.

"While there will probably be many thousand pounds of the nuts produced in the vicinity of Picayune in 1934," said Mr. Rowlands, "it is my idea to hold them over until the next year when the crop produced on the 17,000 acres will probably amount to 10,000,000 pounds. The nuts do not spoil and may be stored for two or three years if necessary."

A crushing and pressing plant for the industry will be established, probably at Picayune, and will employ a large force of people in the various operations of gathering, transporting and manufacturing the nuts into tung oil. Millions of gallons of tung oil are used in the United States annually.

The soil in south Mississippi, said Mr. Rowlands, is specially adapted to the growth of tung oil trees and as far as known, there is no pest or disease that in any way interferes with its growth. Experiments with the growing of tung oil trees in south Mississippi carried forward for a number of years have shown conclusively that they can be grown successfully.

The present market for the oil is comparatively unlimited, said Mr. Rowland. The United States has been getting a large part of its supply of this oil from China but producers in the United States can compete with the Chinese product very successfully, according to Mr. Rowland.

It is well known that many acres of tung trees are situated in Hancock county and in time will carry assessable value.

DIZZINESS relieved by Black-Draught

"I decided to take Theodor's Black-Draught, as I had been having bilious spells," writes Mr. Chas. E. Stevens, of Columbia, Ind. "When I get bilious I feel sleepy and tired and do not feel like doing my work. I get awfully dizzy. I know then that I had better take something. After I found how good Black-Draught is, that is what I have used. I guess it did me of the bile, for I feel better—don't feel like I am dropping off to sleep every time I eat. That to me is a very bad feeling. Now you can get Black-Draught in the form of a SWEET, for Children."

COMPLETE INSANE

Mississippi Bond Commission Signs PWA Application.

The Mississippi State Bond Commission Monday signed a PWA application for a loan of $600,000 to complete the state's $5,000,000 insane hospital in Rankin county, the Bond Commission agreeing in the application to sell $188,000 of the remaining $788,000 of state hospital bonds to pay all outstanding obligations due contractors on the project. The remaining $600,000 of bonds would be used as security for the loan.

No date was set for sale of the $188,000 of bonds pending action on the application by the PWA in Washington.

Should the application be approved the funds would be earmarked to the state's credit before the January 15 deadline, thus allowing time for the Mississippi Legislature, convening January 2, to authorize any necessary changes in existing hospital contracts.

The first application for a PWA loan to complete this plant failed because of outstanding debts to contractors for work done.

ANNUAL HIGH SCHOOL DANCE FRIDAY EVENING AT LOCAL NIGHT CLUB.

The annual high school dance given by the pupils of Bay High School was held Friday night, December 8, at Uncle Charlie's Nite Club. It was attended only by high school pupils and teachers and all pronounced it a success.

The entertainment of the evening included games and cards for those who did not care to dance. The dancers glided smoothly around to the music of the Gulf Coast Syncopators, under the direction of Gerald Grevenberg. Each class gave a stunt during the intermission and the Freshmen received the prize for the best. Taking part were: Bernard Lacoste, Jack Ingram and Brisco Goldman. Then came the Grand March, led by Essie C. Wenar and Curtis Ladner who were the winners of the High school popularity contest. After refreshments, which consisted of cake and punch the dance contest was held. This was won by Ruth Ward and Curtis Ladner.

Much of the success of the dance was due to the untiring efforts of Miss Marie Louise Renaud, who acted as sponsor. Miss Bessie Givens, Miss Julia Blaize, Mr. Phillips, and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Ingram attended the affair.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Genovese spent Friday in New Orleans, combining business and pleasure.
